Welcome!

You may have noticed that there is an election coming up. In addition to making your decision about the presidential candidates, please seek candidates for Governor and New Hampshire House and Senate who support what is important to you, which we hope includes LCHIP!

We have wrapped up our site visits, completed the Natural Resource Review Panel meeting and are preparing for the November 2nd Historic Resource Review Panel. We've seen an array of fascinating historic and natural resource sites and passionate project proponents. It makes us sad that there is not enough money to support all the projects that have applied.

LCHIP Spotlights

Plummer Homestead, Milton

The Plummer Homestead is a farmstead in Milton composed of a series of interconnected structures built between 1780 and the 1870s. The property was owned by the Plummer family from 1780 to 1993, when it was deeded to the New Hampshire Farm Museum. Its twenty acres continue as a working farm, with the land protected permanently by a conservation easement. The farmstead buildings retain a great deal of integrity, with interior and exterior features from the late-Georgian, Federal, and Greek Revival styles. In 2015, LCHIP awarded a $50,000 grant to the New Hampshire Farm Museum to support the rehabilitation of the farmstead. Work includes repair and reconstruction of the foundation, installation of new drainage, and the restoration of the entrance of the "little house." Hopped up on Hops in Dunbarton

In 1780 a determined young man, William Beard, set about clearing his land in Dunbarton, mind firmly set on planting just one crop - hops. He wasn't alone - in the late 1700s the hops industry was 'hopping' in nearby Hillsborough County. In 1809 William's daughter married a Henniker man, James Stone, who promptly joined the family business. The Stone name stuck, as did William's gritty determination if not his penchant for growing hops. For more than 200 years, five generations of Stone's worked the family land. In 2015 LCHIP awarded Five Rivers Conservation Trust $119,500 to permanently protect Stone Farm. Read more about the farm and its history here.
